With more than a decade of legal experience, Karen Dopkins is well-acquainted with the climate of insurance defense, especially with regard to personal injury, premise liability and construction defect litigation. She has developed a sharp, investigative eye to assist attorneys in both Indiana and Florida.

As a member of Henderson Franklin's Tort & Insurance Department, Karen reviews medical records, investigates adverse parties, conducts legal research, communicates with clients and experts, and assists attorneys preparing for depositions, mediation, hearings and trial.

Karen is originally from Long Island, NY. In her spare time, she enjoys being with her son and her dog. Her favorite vacation location is Hilton Head, SC.
